PROFILE

Came to design through physics, theatre and film, always following the urge to make things. 4+ years in industry building brands, content and digital products for clients in India and abroad. Now pursuing an MDes in New Media Design at NID Gandhinagar, working where AI meets the physical world: products, installations and spaces that see, listen and respond. My work spans product design, interaction design and creative technology, using computer vision, voice and digital interfaces.
